
FRANCE: MATERNOLOGY, BIRTH OF A MOTHER

Director(s): Jean-Michel VENNEMANI, Delphine REYNARD

Just like Lyria, Corinne or Martine, many young mothers feel disorientated for weeks after giving birth. They do not find it comes natural to look after their new-born, handle it, talk to it. If the mother suffers from this stressful situation, the baby is likely to suffer as well. The "maternology" unit in Saint-Cyr looks after these young women who struggle to become a mother. Dr. Delassus and his team accompany them on their way to a second birth - the birth of a bond between mother and child.
