A DREAM JOB?

Director(s): Marc BALL

Writer(s): Marc BALL

In France, the deaf still face many barriers in their working life: a language barrier or that of isolation, the lack of professional development.

The application of the new Digital Law in France should improve employment opportunities for the deaf in the area of accessibility. However, are these new opportunities able to fulfil their career aspirations? Can sign language become a working language like any other? Can it help them to achieve their professional ambitions?
Wallès Kotra investigates and provides us with a realistic inventory.
